DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. A rejection based on double patenting of the "same invention" type finds its support in the language of 35 U.S.C. 101 which states that "whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process ... may obtain a patent therefor ..." (Emphasis added). Thus, the term "same invention," in this context, means an invention drawn to identical subject matter. See Miller v. Eagle Mfg. Co., 151 U.S. 186 (1894); In re Ockert, 245 F.2d 467, 114 USPQ 330 (CCPA 1957); and In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970).

A statutory type (35 U.S.C. 101) double patenting rejection can be overcome by canceling or amending the conflicting claims so they are no longer coextensive in scope. The filing of a terminal disclaimer cannot overcome a double patenting rejection based upon 35 U.S.C. 101.

2. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as claiming the same invention as that of claims 1, 2, 5, 6, 3, 4, 7-10, respectively, of prior U.S. Patent No. 6,186,619.

This is a double patenting rejection.

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Art Unit: 2861

4. Claims 11-17, 19-33, 35-49, 51- are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-5, 8-11, 16, 18-19 of U.S. Patent No. 5,910,809 in view of Matsuda et al. (U.S. 4,364,070).

U.S. Patent No. 5,910,809 recites all the claimed limitations of the current invention except for explicitly claiming the ink droplets being ejected in a same direction as a main vibration direction of said vibrating plate.

Matsuda et al. discloses a drop on-demand ink jet print head comprising a piezoelectric plate formed by laminating two layers of piezoelectric elements (31 and 33) and two layers of conductive film (not shown), a vibration plate (or diaphragm 23), wherein the ink droplets are ejected downward in the same as the direction of the main vibrating direction (shown as broken line in Fig. 2).

It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to set the ejection direction as the same as the main vibrating direction as taught by Matsuda et al. The motivation for doing so would have been to provide a large pressure area exercised by the vibration plate on the ink contained in the pressurizing chamber.

5. Claims 18, 34, 50 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 2 of U.S. Patent No. 5,910,809 in view of Fujimoto (JP 62-254667).

U.S. Patent No. 5,910,809 recites all the claimed limitations of the current invention except for the immovable (or inactive) area having a length equal to a quarter of a vibration wavelength of the piezoelectric element.

Fujimoto discloses a supporting structure of a cylindrical piezoelectric vibrator, wherein the supporting member is fixed to the end surface of the piezoelectric vibrator by a distance of a quarter of the vibration wavelength such that the vibration in the support is taken out without restricting the vibration of the piezoelectric element.

It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to arrange the immovable area of the piezoelectric elements by a distance equal to a quarter of a vibration wavelength of the piezoelectric element as taught by Fujimoto. The motivation for doing so would have been to effectively cancel out the side effect of the vibration.
